If any of the attending shareholders claims an alleged conflict of interests of a shareholder, which prevents him from voting in the meeting, or in another legal event of vote obstruction, and if the shareholder himself has not declared his obstruction, the chairman or the secretary of the general meeting shall suspend the resolution to listen to and receive such allegation, together with any counterclaims of such shareholder, before voting on the matter. The chairman of the meeting himself may, if he verifies a vote obstruction, request a clarification on the situation from the shareholder before voting the matter.

In line with the understanding of the CVM, in situations in which the vote obstruction is unequivocal and the shareholder does not abstain from voting, the chairman of the meeting has the power to declare such obstruction, and he is not allowed to obstruct the vote in other situations, without prejudice to the legal provisions on the possible annulment of the vote cast.
